Competition to be funded to attend Uganda Regional Conference, October 2018

Entries close August 9th 2018

Dear Member,

We are keen to have a wide range of members attend the IAWRT Regional Conference in Entebbe, Uganda (East Africa) from October 2 to 5

The gathering is crucial in making decisions about the future direction of IAWRT and in providing skills for members to find funding for future projects, such as Rural Women & Media our Community Radio project, Gender Mainstreaming, and Raising Awareness About Gender-Based Online Harassment.

So, we have allocated funds to bring five (5) members who may be unable to fund themselves.

To be fair about allocating these funds we invite you to enter the selection competition:

MY IAWRT PROJECT

1. Write for iawrt.org a web new feature of 650 to 1,000 words (or prepare digital podcast radio or video or photo essay) on any aspect of a women and media issue which is crucial in your region. It should be aimed at our international audience, and include which actions or programs are, or might, improve the situation for affected women.¹
2. It is optional to also write a short (less than 500 words) piece on how IAWRT (chapter or international) could set up such a project and get financial support.
